Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Doone (5,218,508) in view of Lundquist et al. (5317473).

Doone disclosed an electrical surge arrester/diverter for high voltage generating and distribution systems. The arrester/diverter comprise a "plurality of low voltage surge arresters coupled together in a series parallel network" (Abstract). A plurality of series connected stages each of which comprises a generally annular mounting plate formed with an integral corona discharge suppression ring and a plurality of the low voltage surge arresters mounted to the mounting plate at uniformly spaced apart positions. Doone disclosed the mounting plate, but didn't disclose a multiple limbed mounting bracket for mounting the low voltage surge arresters.

Art Unit: 2836

Lundquist et al. teach a surge arrester assembly comprising 20 parallel-connected arrester units (Fig.9, Pos.1) that are arranged pair wise in groups, in which the two units in each groups are mounted on top of each other and together squeezed in between two support beams read on limbs (4a, 4b), which are held together by means of support insulators (6). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention replace the mounting plate of Doone (5,218,508) by support beams of Lundquist et al., because it will create a lighter construction.

Referring to Claims 2 and 3, an electrical surge arrester/diverter of Doone includes a corona suppression ring.

Referring to Claim 4, Doone (5,218,508) disclosed and claimed a station class electrical surge arrester comprising plurality of series-connected stages each of which comprises a plurality of electrically matched parallel-connected distribution class surge arresters connected in parallel with each other by means of metallic conductors.

Referring to Claim 5, Doone (5,218,508) disclosed use of a polymer housed solid-state surge arrester, which represents a considerable departure from conventional porcelain housed arresters (col.1, Lines 15-17).
